

ABSTRACT

A method and composition is provided for a relative permeability modifier for use with aqueous well treatment fluids that comprises a hydrophobically modified water soluble polymer or a hydrophilically modified water soluble polymer.